

Transformative Learning, Experience and Cultivation

Zen and Integrated Buddhist Studies (IBS) 2017

28 JANUARY — 17 DECEMBER
Main Course Outline

Jikishoan Zen Buddhist Community Inc. is a non-profit charitable organisation founded in 1999.

Jikishoan's vision is to offer Transformative Buddhist Learning, Experience and Cultivation for Everyone.

As part of our commitment to this vision Jikishoan offers Zen and Integrated Buddhist Studies (IBS) Buddhist Education programs based on Soto Zen Buddhism and its teaching lineage through India, China, Japan and Australia.

In its 8th year since inception, the IBS comprises a three-fold Main Course program in basic Buddhist concepts and practice.

The program includes meditation instruction and workshops based on Zen training in the ultimate Mahayana tradition, Ekayana. Through tutorials, consultation and practice interviews with the Teacher and Course Coordinators, students are assisted with their course planning, work, practice and independent study and projects.

MAIN COURSE

The Main Course Program offers A, B and C courses that are integral to Zen education and discipline. The scope of these three programs integrate with one another like the Root, Stem and Blossom of a growing Lotus plant in muddy water.

COURSE A

Meditation, practice and study in the Jikishoan Zendo, a traditional meditation hall. A full-year enrolment is 8 units.

Main Course A (Root) is the entry point to the Main Course Program for a new student. It is a vital base where transformative learning, experience and cultivation for everyone takes place and evolves along with one's deepening meditation, practice and direct understanding.

Program

Main Course A weaves together diverse levels of interests, commitments and experiences of students into each term with 10 x 2 hour class sessions in meditation and Buddhist study, emphasising a practical approach to both conceptual and direct understanding. At the heart of Zen and Integrated Buddhist Studies (IBS) is the desire to allow students to explore these subjects from as many different views as possible.

The Western education model is used systematically while Buddhist perspectives are tested and cultivated in the course of meditation, practice, and in-class discussions. Course A integrates implicitly with the other two courses, B and C. Director Ekai Korematsu leads qualified coordinators for these three courses to support students with their training, practice, objectives and administration. Participants are encouraged to examine their own cultural and intellectual assumptions as they pursue these studies in a supportive environment. Mid year and during the final month of their IBS year, students are invited to submit a report paper on a topic of their choice in order to complete the Main Course work and /or as an Independent Study Project.

CURRICULUM

Term credit (10 sessions) is 2 units, 20 hours. A student may enrol by term or year. Main Course A curriculum consists of three core topics: Practice, Perspective and in-class role.

Meditation Practice

(1) Three mudras (2) Meditation exercises (3) Three forms

Ten Perspectives

- | | | | |
|---|---------------------|----|-------------------------|
| 1 | Right Practice | 6 | The Three Treasures |
| 2 | Right Attitude | 7 | The Seals of Buddhism |
| 3 | Right Effort | 8 | The Pathway to Faith |
| 4 | Right Understanding | 9 | The Four Noble Truths |
| 5 | Right Posture | 10 | The Three-fold Learning |

In-class Role Training

- Jiso and text reading
- Chaju and tea ceremony
- Jikido and sutra chanting
- Jiroku and A-class admin

Independent Project

- Practice Interview
- One Day Workshop
- Sanzen-kai
- Zen Retreat
- Study in India and Japan

Venues: A1 Footscray/Jikishoan Zendo address is available on receipt of application; A2 and A3 - Australian Shiatsu College, 103 Evans Street, Brunswick. Contact Katherine Yeo for Course A, ph 0422 407 870, email A-course@jikishoan.org.au

COURSE B

Community based practice and Buddhist study in everyday life. A full-year enrolment is 12 units for B1 and 8 units for B2.

Program

Main Course B brings together students from diverse walks of life, cultural and educational backgrounds. Each semester comprises 20 sessions of 2 to 4 hours of weekly meditation (Sanzen-kai) within Mahayana Buddhism and the Soto Zen approach to Buddhist discipline. Its scope of study is larger than that of Main Course A with teaching being more explicit, detailed and performance oriented. As Professor Kogen Mizuno says in his book, Basic Buddhist Concepts (page 45):

"Since all things change from instant to instant, life is an accumulation of momentary actions and happenings. Each of these moments must be fulfilled, not with carpe diem hedonism but with a provident realization of the individual's full potential."

Participants are encouraged also to attend A-classes and Zen retreats selectively during their enrolment and to take up an independent study, a short to medium term project of 3 to 6 months. In order to complete their Main Course B work, students can submit a paper on a subject of their ryo training and ryo roles within Sanzen-kai and Retreat curriculum or a topic of their choice .

CURRICULUM

A semester credit (20 sessions) is 6 units, 60 hours. A student may enrol by semester or year.

Scope

Main Course B curriculum covers four broad subjects:

- Sanzen-kai practices
- Mahayana Perspectives
- In-Ryo roles
- Individual Attendance Plan & Log (IAP)

ZEN AND INTEGRATED BUDDHIST STUDIES (IBS) 2017

COURSE C

Zen training and study in the Soto Zen Tradition at 3 x 7 day retreats during Easter, August and November.
A full enrolment is 15 units (12 R-units +3 A-units).

Program

Main Course C ushers students into intensive practice, study and ryo training at Bendoho retreats, a form of Zen monastic community practice, emphasizing Zen Master Dogen's method of practices and teachings within his major work Shobogenzo, The Treasure House of the Eye of True Teaching. There he said:

“To reach the Truth, one cuts oneself off from using the spoken word and lets the intellectual function die out. This is because going beyond words and going beyond intellect are how one reaches the Truth, since having words and having thoughts is entirely different from the Truth.”

- from Ango On Summer Retreat (Page 857)

Students are encouraged to have a long term vision, commitment and plan when they pursue Course C study. Anyone can apply to attend a Jikishoan Zen retreat. However, for formal entry and enrolment into the Main Course C program, in addition to their application, students are required to have an interview with Ekai Osho for their Individual Training Plan (ITP).

OVERSEAS STUDY

Study at Bodh Gaya where Buddhism originated 2500 years ago and Sanzen at Zen training temples in Japan as part of an Independent Study and Project. The 3 to 10 weeks is 2-8 units.

Study in India

Director: Dr. Arthur McKeown

Annually, Ekai Osho travels to Bodh Gaya for 3 weeks to teach in Carleton-Antioch University's Buddhist Studies Abroad Program for 3 weeks. Students may accompany him to take up an Independent Study project. Detailed information and student reports of this IBS Study in India Program are available.

Sanzen in Japan

Director: Seido Suzuki Roshi

Seido Suzuki Roshi accepts students from Jikishoan for an extended period for Sanzen (traditional Zen practice and study) at Toshoji, a Soto Zen training monastery where he is Abbot and Teacher.

LEADERSHIP / FACULTY

DIRECTOR Ekai Korematsu

Ekai Korematsu is the Main Teacher of Jikishoan Zen Buddhist Community in Melbourne. He is a transmitted teacher (Osho), in the Soto Zen Tradition and has taught meditation in Japan, India, USA, Australia and New Zealand for over 35 years. He has been a faculty member of the Carleton-Antioch University Buddhist Studies Abroad Program in India since 1997.

COORDINATOR

Shudo Hannah Forsyth

Shudo Hannah Forsyth is an original member of Jikishoan and a general Coordinator for Main Course Program and C course students. Shudo has been a student of Ekai Osho since 1999 and is currently undertaking Assistant Teacher Training in the IBS and the Soto Zen Tradition.

COORDINATOR

Teishin Shona Innes

Teishin Shona Innes is Secretary for IBS Student Administration and Main Course B Coordinator. She has been a member of Jikishoan since 2005 and was Head Student (Shuso) during the second six month training period in 2013. Teishin has completed seven years in Main Course A and B.

COORDINATOR

Shuzan Katherine Yeo

Shuzan Katherine Yeo is Main Course A Coordinator. She has completed seven years in Main Course A and took up independent study projects, making a contribution to IBS for its associated programs such as Buddhist Studies in India and Zen Training at Toshoji Japan. Shuzan has been a member of Jikishoan since 2008.

- To be a Nominal student in 2017: $65 Admission fee plus IAP for [A] and [B] or ITP for [C]
33% minimum attendance required for [A] term, [B] semester, or [C] retreat

WHAT COURSE DO I CHOOSE AS MY MAJOR?

- Course A (Root): This course is essential for any individual regardless of their prior experience, and is a prerequisite for Course B and C. Particularly, if you are new, you must start from this course except for a Jikishoan member, or an IBS student who has finished 1 term in A class curriculum, or previously attended a Bendoho Retreat for a minimum of 7 days, or 3 x One Day Workshops.
- Course B (Stem): This course is for a student who wants to train in Ryo practice and study in the Mahayana tradition at weekly Sanzen-kai with a Teacher and a Sangha. Anyone can attend Sanzen-kai [B1, B2]. However, this course enrolment provides a supportive structure and an environment for Zen education and training in community level practice. Integration with Course A and C curriculum helps to bring meditation into life.
- Course C (Flower): This course is retreat-based and intended for students who pursue curriculum and training in Soto Zen Buddhism for a period of 3 years [KC]. However, a student may enrol in this course by year [CY] if this suits better. It emphasises methods and teachings of the two Zen Masters: Dogen Zenji and Keizan Zenji. A face to face interview with the Teacher is a prerequisite for Course C enrolment.

VISION FOR YOUR PARTICIPATION

We encourage you to cultivate your own vision when you pursue the course work. Having a vision and purpose will make a difference to your study and practice regardless of levels of your commitment: short, medium or long term. We wish you the best and that your objective finds its respective place in our vision: To offer transformative Buddhist learning, experience and cultivation for everyone.

ACCREDITATION

Accreditation assessment is primarily based on successful attendance in the Main Course Program (Jikishoan Accreditation Standard 2015).

Attendance Certificate: Upon request, Jikishoan will issue an Attendance Certificate to a student at any point he/she earns above 80 student hours. A student earns a credit by their attendance/student hours and 1 unit comprises 10 student hours.

Course Certificate: A student-teacher certificate may be awarded to a student who has earned above 36 course units and has successfully completed curriculum based training, projects and integrated study.

Teacher Training: Reserved for lay ordained students who completed post Shuso training under the Main Teacher. Criterion: above 108 course units, IBS (5 years), 5 practice periods, and independent projects.

NO REFUND POLICY

Admission and tuition fees are non-refundable. However, if Jikishoan determines that due to extraordinary circumstances a student can no longer continue his/her course work, the remaining balance of the Main Course tuition paid may be credited for reenrolment within IBS year 2017-2018.
